

NO MORE STALLING

NO MORE DELAY

AWARD REFORM NOW!

For four months now, HSU members have been negotiating for new Allied Health Awards that offer fair career progression, workload protections, and improved pay and conditions.

The Ministry of Health and NSW Government have not provided a formal and adequate response to the HSU's claims – this isn't good enough.

HSU members are escalating negotiations with a more visible and public campaign. We have started proudly wearing our campaign badges to show how many of us are united in fighting for our work to be fairly valued and our patients protected.

Together, we will continue applying increasing pressure to the NSW Government to provide us with a reasonable and fair offer in our Award negotiations!

TAKING PART IN THE

AWARD REFORM BADGE ACTIVITY

All members are needed to help ensure we are successful in this once-in-a-generation negotiation for new and modern Awards.

To get your badge and play your part:

1 Contact your local HSU Organiser or HSU Member Delegate to request your badge

2 Complete the badge activity pledge sheet. (This information is only used to confirm membership details and track overall participation figures.)

3 Collect your badge (from your local organiser or delegate) and wear it loud and proud with your colleagues!

4 Spread the word and help get as many other clinicians and staff to take part as possible.
