New portable radio reception issues

The union office has received reports that the new 'Tait' portable radios may be having 'out of range' reception issues particularly while inside buildings. This might mean it's a built-up metro area problem only – we are not sure.

Radios are very important from a paramedic safety point of view so it's vital that new radios are fit for purpose.

If you have used one of the new portable radios, please take a moment to respond to our short survey to provide feedback.
