

JHH: Annunciator system not to go ahead in Theatres 1-10

Dear Member,

The HSU has received correspondence from the HNELHD informing that the intended introduction of an annunciator system within Theatres 1-10 of the John Hunter Hospital is not proceeding. The reason provided by management is that they will not be increasing operations assistant staffing numbers to accommodate the communication system.

As members are aware, a similar system is operational in Theatres 11-15, as they have a model that utilises one (1) operations assistant per theatre. Management will not be implementing the same model in the larger and busier complex of theatres.

If you become aware of any more information on this matter, please inform the local sub branch committee so that it may be raised with senior management.

In unity,

Gerard Hayes
Secretary, HSU NSW/ACT/QLD
