

Reporting Line Changes within the HNELHD Information, Communication and Technology Service

Dear Member,

The HSU has received correspondence from the HNELHD informing of an imminent change to reporting lines within the Information, Communication and Technology (ICT) Service. Management has informed that there are no losses of jobs, reduction of hours or regrades.

The reporting line changes are said to mainly affect the Greater Newcastle Sector. The formal notice, current and proposed organisational charts are attached for your information.

Please contact your Organiser, via email as listed below, with any concerns arising from this correspondence by C.O.B. Thursday 30th August 2019. Please note that the proposed changes are scheduled to begin 1st September 2019.

Dear Mr Hayes,

Re: Realignment of Line Management Reporting – ICT

I write to confirm reporting line changes within the Information Communications and Technology Service (ICT) at Hunter New England Local Health District.

The proposed structure is a strategic realignment of the roles and responsibilities as a way of better managing the ICT Service and the service it provides.

The proposed changes to reporting lines will come into effect from 1 September 2019. The proposed changes will not impact on the overarching role and responsibilities of ICT staff and there will be no changes to classifications or FTE.

Please see attached a current and proposed organisational chart that visually represents the realignment outlined above.

Staff affected through the realignment of the line management change have been consulted and will be provided formal written advice in this regard. Again, importantly there will be no changes to overall FTE or overarching accountability of the ICT staff as a consequence of this change.

If you wish to discuss this matter further, please contact Jenna Bell, HR Consultant, Corporate Human Resources on 02 4985 3260.

Yours sincerely,
